Errors in Southern California Land Surveys.

WINTER RAINS ARE COMMENCING

Capture of a Persistent Burglar—A Mysterious Death Being Investigated.

SAN DIEGO, October 23.—Considerable excitement prevails at the Mesa Grande over the result of surveys of the Indian lands there. A surveying party in charge of E. L. Dorn, under the direction of the department of the interior, has been at work upon the mesa for about a month with a view to the allotment of the reservation lands there to Indians in severalty.

It is said that some serious discrepances were discovered, in some cases a quarter of a mile from the Fox and Wheeler surveys, under which most of the land has been located. Several of the ranchers have discovered that they were not living on, nor were they cultivating their own land at all, and some who supposed that they had fine ranches find that their possessions are now comparatively worthless.

It is said that the present survey coincides exactly with the Washburn government survey of 1856, and that the field notes make the lines of that survey identical with the present one.

SLIGHT DAMAGE BY RAIN.

Showers in the South Work Injury to the Raisin Crop.

OXNARD, October 23.—The first rain of the season began about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, lasting till noon. Eighty-hundredths of an inch fell. Considerable damage was done the raisin crop, as the growers were unprepared for rain.

VENTURA, October 23.—The first rain of the season began falling at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The precipitation was .40 of an inch. The indications are for more rain. Many beans are out, and there will be a heavy loss if the rain continues.

SANTA ANA, October 23.—There have been heavy showers for the past eighteen hours. Raisins and prunes are mostly under shelter. Considerable barley is still in the fields.

Two Killed and Two Injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23.—Two men were killed, another fatally injured and a fourth painfully wounded tonight by an unexpected explosion of a blast in a quarry at Twenty-first and Church streets tonight. The blast had been prepared but failed to explode. The men were ordered to draw the charge and were working on it with a tamping iron when the powder exploded. A large mass of rock was loosened by the explosion, and fell, burying Charles Nolan, whose body has not yet been recovered, and killing Gus Swanson. Mat Deasy had a leg broken and was injured internally. It is thought his wounds are fatal. Michael Kelleher was painfully wounded. Foreman Dan Keane was arrested and will probably be charged with criminal negligence.

Trapped a Burglar.

PORTLAND, Or., October 23.—The residence of W. T. Burrell was entered by burglars a short time since and a gold watch was stolen. Another attempt was made to enter the house a few nights ago, but the burglar was scared away. Since then a watch has been kept, and early yesterday morning a burglar came in through the window. Hearing the click of a gunlock, he sprang out and jumped off the porch, when Mr. Burrill fired a charge of birdshot, knocking the fellow over. He gave the name of Stevens, and told where he secreted the watch, which has been recovered. He will probably live.

Looks Like Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23.—The police are investigating the death of George Schroeder, a Swedish sailor who arrived in the city a few days ago on a whaler from the north. Saturday afternoon Schroeder was found dead in a lodging house of a questionable character on Kearney street, smothered by gas, and it was first believed to be suicide. It now transpires that Schroeder had considerable money and a gold watch and gold chain when he went to the house. The coroner found but 15 cents on the body. It is believed to be a cowardly murder.

Aberration of Mind.

SAN BERNARDINO, October 23.—George Hinds of Wilmington arrived here yesterday morning in response to a telegram from Coroner Thompson in regard to the suicide of John Kennedy. He said that the dead man had been in an asylum twice, and frequently left home for days at a time. Kennedy was married and leaves a wife and two children. He lived at Wilmington, being in the hardware business. The remains were taken to his home this afternoon.

Senator White at Home.

LOS ANGELES, October 23.—Senator White returned to Los Angeles tonight and intends to remain here about ten days. The senator in an interview expressed his belief in the adoption of a compromise bill on the silver question. He also thinks after the Sherman law is disposed of a change in the rules of the senate will be effected.

Given Time to Settle.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23. — The creditors of Wright, Bowen & Co., a whaling firm which is temporarily embarrassed, have granted them a year's time in which to settle affairs. The firm is said to be solvent and will have no difficulty in paying its debts.

More Attachments.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23.—Sheriff McDade this morning levied an attachment on B. Feigenbaum & Co., the toy merchants. The attachment was by Schofer Bros., who allege the defendants owe them $17,300 on a promissory note executed October 2d last.

Stole the Exhibits.

BOISE, October 23.—A Statesman special from Chicago says: The Idaho mining exhibit at the World's Fair was robbed last night of gold nuggets and a bar of bullion from the De la Mar mine. Loss $5000.

The Bondsmen to Pay.

SEATTLE, October 23.—The bondsmen of Adolph Krug, the defaulting city treasurer, together with the banks of the city have made arrangements for returning to the city treasury the amount of his shortage, amounting to about $85,000.

About Due in Fresno.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23.—A gang of a hundred men from the Salvation Army camp of unemployed at Seventh and Mission streets secured free ferriage to Oakland this afternoon and started south, declaring their intention to force their way over the Sunset route. New Orleans is the alleged destination of many of them.

A Record Meeting.

STOCKTON, October 23.—The Stockton fair directors decided to hold record meetings on the 1st, 4th, 8th and 11th proximo. Horses will come here from Pleasanton and Palo Alto to make records.

Fire at Sisson.

SISSON, Cal., October 23.—The New York hotel and the private residence of Mrs. W. Miles were destroyed by fire this morning. Insurance on both buildings, $4000; loss, $6000.

FOREIGN EXHIBITORS

WHO WILL EXHIBIT AT THE MIDWINTER FAIR.

The Office Seeker Sees His Opportunity and Is Making Trouble.

CHICAGO, October 23.—Irvin C. Stump, vice president of the California Midwinter International Exposition, has been in the city several days investigating the work done by those in charge of the branch headquarters of the Exposition at the California state building in this city. Mr. Stump, like all Californians who have been here during the past few weeks, is greatly pleased with the administration of the office, and surprised at the amount of work already done by Assistant Director General Cornely and his assistants. Mr. Cornely's great popularity with exhibitors of foreign countries, and experience in previous expositions has resulted in the securing of a large number of exhibits from the greatest firms in all parts of the world. Under his instructions the commissioners of the various countries have accomplished an enormous amount of work; indeed more work than has ever before been done in so short a period of time.

Mr. Stump was especially pleased with the work done by Mr. Edward Scott, commissioner for the United States. So great an interest had been taken in the exposition by foreign countries that it had been feared that the United States would not be as well represented as some other nations. This might lead to a diminution in the large trade that has been secured on the Pacific coast and with the South American countries, after a great deal of work. Mr. Stump found that this great fear was groundless. Many of the American exhibitors at the World's Columbian Exposition have applied for space, and a still greater number will make applications during the next week or two. Mr. Stump finds that Mr. Scott is very popular among the Americans, and that there is no opposition to him from any quarter, except perhaps from office-seekers or those who are engineering other expositions to be held about the same time in Europe.

Office seekers have been a great annoyance to those in charge here. Scarcely a day passes that hundreds of applications are not received from those who wish positions with the exposition in California. Most of these people are led to apply for positions in the hope of being able to spend a winter beneath California's sunny skies without cost to themselves. This is very gratifying to Californians, but at the same time it is not possible to oblige everyone. There are thousands of people holding positions under the World's Columbian exposition, many of them having sinecures. As at the California Midwinter International exposition only the best of the exhibits in the various departments will be shown because of the limited space at the exposition management's disposal, so will it be possible only to give employment to the best men in each department.

Of course, every one of the office seekers think that he has qualifications for the post he seeks, which no one else possesses, and therefore takes great offense when his application is refused. These people, in order to get even with those who have refused them, try to injure the exposition in every possible way. They are the only ones who have anything to say to the discredit of those in charge of the fair.

So great is this annoyance from office seekers that it has been even necessary to refuse to make public the names of exhibitors who have applied for space. This is done at their own request to protect them from a similar amount of boring to that which is patiently endured by the exposition officials.

Mr. Stump finds every one of the officials no less active in their work than Mr. Scott. Of the counties represented there is not one that will not have several of its best exhibits. The demand for space is increasing so rapidly that it may indeed be necessary to refuse the applications made by some of those who have applied for space.

Mr. Stump finds that the work of advertising the exposition is being thoroughly done. The department of publicity and promotion, of which William M. Handy is chief, sends out daily papers printed in convenient shape for newspapers in all parts of the world. These are largely used by editors who appreciate their news value and who wish to do all they can to help California in the great task which it has undertaken. The press of the world says but kind things of California's great project, with one voice they wish it God speed.

The fine arts display at the California exposition will be a notable one, such indeed as never before have the residents of the Pacific Coast had an opportunity to see. The best exhibits of every section will be taken to San Francisco after the close of the World's Fair. Only yesterday the Society of Polish Artists, whose exhibit is one of the most interesting and pronounced one of the most notable by all art critics, applied for permission to exhibit at the Midwinter Fair 105 oil paintings and five statues, selected from those exhibits in the fine arts building here.

Jutmi Chindi, Japanese consul at San Francisco, arrived here last week. He was entertained at dinner by R. Cornely, assistant director general of the California Midwinter International Exposition.

One of the great many displays which will go from Midway to the Midwinter Exposition is the panorama of the burning Crater of Kilauea.

P. N. Daniel wishes a concession to take the Esquimaux village here to the Midwinter Fair.

COMPROMISE A FAILURE

The Silver Question Still Far From Soluble.

LITTLE BUSINESS TRANSACTED

And the Senate Is Getting Further Than Ever Behind Its Calendar.

WASHINGTON, October 23.—The prospects of the senate reaching an agreement on some form of financial legislation now appears more remote than ever. The opinion is general among senators who will discuss the question at all that the compromise bill, over which they were so sanguine Saturday, will never be introduced in the senate. The reason for this is that the compromisers have been unable to get a sufficient number of pledges to guarantee the passage of the bill.

Owing to the strict adherence to rules the senate may be said to be in an official sense a week behind the calendar. The upper house has had no formal adjournment since a week ago today, so when the senate met at 10 o'clock this morning the legislative day of October 17th still continued.

Consideration of the silver repeal bill was resumed and Senator Jones of Nevada continued his argument in opposition.

Teller answered the questions as to whether he thought the government of the United States could, with the coinage of silver, maintain a parity between gold and silver, by saying it could, because he did not believe more silver would come to the country than business would absorb. In other words, the demand would be equal to the supply. "Free coinage of silver in the United States alone might not do it," said Teller, in answer to a query by Palmer, "but the position I take is, our example would be followed by other countries, and then the monetary system would return to the system that prevailed prior to the demonetization of silver by Germany, the United States, the Latin union, etc."

Stewart of Nevada then addressed the senate in advocacy of his proposed amendment for a pan-American conference. Without concluding Stewart yielded, and the senate took a recess until tomorrow.

May Get Into Trouble.

CHICAGO, October 23.—The Indiana-Midland railway running from Anderson to Waveland, sixty-eight miles, has a strike on its hands due to non-payment of wages. Saturday its switches were spiked, the cars chained up to bridges, the tool houses burned up, the track torn up and all trains stopped. Trains are not running west of Lebanon. Not only is the freight and passenger traffic blocked, but the United States mails stopped. The track through Montgomery county is torn up in many places. Early Sunday morning a bridge fifty feet long near Ladoga was burned. The leaders of the strike deny that they ordered any property destroyed, and deprecate violence.

Nebraska Whitecaps.

OMAHA, October 23.—A special to the Bee from Osceola says: The Osceola whitecaps who whipped two girls Saturday night who were supposed to be of easy virtue were arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty. The case was continued till November 20th on recognizance of $200 each. Those under arrest are Mrs. Birhart, Mrs. Heald, two Mrs. Osbornes, Mrs. Everett, Ben Osborne and three boys named Kerr, Osborne and Browne. Mrs. Heald is the wife of the president of Bank of Polk county and leader in an Osceola church and several societies, and the other ladies are wives of prominent business men. All are members of the local W.C.T.U.

Joined the Dakota Industry.

NEW YORK, October 23.—Corn Tanner, the actress and wife of Colonel William E. Sinn, the theatrical manager, has taken up her residence in South Dakota, where she will sue Colonel Sinn for divorce as soon as she is legally qualified to do so. She will then return to the stage. Colonel Sinn was asked yesterday if he knew her intentions. He replied that he was aware of her residence in South Dakota and expected at some future time to be served with papers in divorce suit, but he would make no comments for publication.

Railroad Accident.

PITTSBURG, October 23.—The Baltimore & Ohio vestibule train, which left Chicago at 5 o'clock last evening, ran into an open switch at Gallery Junction on the Pittsburg and Western division of the Baltimore & Ohio railway, twenty-five miles west of Pittsburg, at 7.30 o'clock this morning. The engine and four sleeping cars were derailed, and one sleeping car went over the embankment. Although many passengers jumped from the doors and windows of the train, not one was seriously hurt.

Bursting of a Boiler.

CINCINNATI, October 23.—The towboat Bellevue burst a boiler today while lying at her moorings. Other shipping was saved from the fire which followed by cutting the Bellevue adrift. Firemen in skiffs surrounded her with lines of hose and put out the blaze. Her fireman, Reuben Simmons, was literally boiled by steam while imprisoned under a pile of wreckage. He will die. Other members of the crew escaped with slight injury.

A Liberty Tree.

WASHINGTON, October 23.—In compliance with the request from the California branch of the Daughters of the American revolution, who are arranging to plant a liberty tree at the opening of the Midwinter Fair at San Francisco, members of the local society have sent small quantities of earth from the grave of Martha Washington, at Mount Vernon, Rhadensburg and Washington monument and to be used in planting.

Rain in the East.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The downpour of rain which began falling at 10 o'clock last night is still falling, and according to the weather bureau it is not likely to cease for many hours more. Nearly one inch of rain has already fallen at 8 o'clock. The wind has gradually increased, till it is now blowing nearly thirty miles an hour. The storm extends 200 miles to the south, west and north.

A Vessel Found.

CLEVELAND, October 23.—A sunken vessel was discovered a few miles off this port, which, it is thought, is undoubtedly the schooner Riverside, missing since the storm of October 18th. Those on board the vessel were Captain D. G. Farrington and wife, Joseph Hargreaves, mate, and his son John, John Paige, seaman, and two other sailors. All are undoubtedly drowned.

Visit of the Beautiful.

ST. PAUL, October 23.—Specials report a storm of snow, hail, rain and sleet extending over eastern South Dakota and into North Dakota. Fargo, Huron and Sioux Falls report one or more inches of snow and the storm still prevailing.

Horses Burned.

LEMARS, Ia., October 23.—A fire in Corkery's livery stable this morning consumed forty head of horses and destroyed $100,000 worth of other property.

Death of Cardinal Logue.

DUBLIN, October 23.—Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh and primate of all Ireland, died suddenly today at noon. His Eminence was born in 1840.

By Electricity.

NEW YORK, October 23.—Martin Ford jr., the murderer of Henrietta Wilson, was electrocuted this morning.

PILLSBURY FOR PEACE.

Hevron Knocked Out in the Second Round.

From the Tulare Register.

An information was filed in Justice Buckman's court yesterday by A. J. Pillsbury, asking that William Hevron be put under bonds to keep the peace. Evidence was heard, and the defendant required to give a bond in the sum of $3000, which he refused to do, and went to jail.

The proprietors of the Register have no desire to harass any one unduly, but in view of the very sanguinary threats which were made, thought it not improper to ask for the law's protection. We are too busy to be killed, and the sensation of being pounded on the head is far from agreeable, and greatly interferes with business again. We must have peace.

Ivy a Sun to Dampness.

The growth of ivy on the walls of houses renders the walls entirely free from damp, the ivy extracting every particle of moisture from wood, brick or stones for its own sustenance by means of its tiny roots, which work their way into the hardest stone. The overlapping leaves of the ivy conduct water falling upon them from point to point until it reaches the ground without allowing the walls to receive any moisture whatever from the beating rain. —Detroit Free Press.

It would be a good idea to get ready for that shower which is coming in a few days.

A DEAD SHOT remedy for the gold bug pest is one of the things the country is now needing.

SHREWD buyers keep track of the bargains by watching THE REPUBLICAN'S advertising columns.

IF ALL signs do not fail, the grower who is able to hold his raisins for a few months will get good prices for them. As soon as the bulk of the crop is in the hands of the Eastern dealers the slaughter will be over and prices will go up.

SENATORIAL courtesy has been subjected to some pretty severe tests of late, but the heaviest load was laid upon it when the President required the confirmation of J. Jimson Van Alen. Courtesy stood the strain, however, and J. Jimson has the goods delivered for which he put up the money last fall. If the action of the senate had been delayed much longer Van would have been justified in asking for interest on his $50,000.

THINGS have come to a great pass when the world's greatest pugilists have difficulty in securing a place in this country where they can "slug" without danger of interference by minions of the law. Corbett and Mitchell will not, it is positively stated, be allowed to fight at Coney Island, and a movement to bring them to San Francisco has met with the assurance of the mayor of the city and governor of the state that the law against prize fighting will be enforced.

THE appointment of Hornblower to a place on the supreme bench appears to be in keeping with the selection of a corporation lawyer as United States attorney general. Hornblower was a member of a law firm which gave an opinion in the celebrated Chicago water front case that the decision in favor of the city was wrong and that the railroad was entitled to the property. As the decision was given by a small majority of the bench, fears are entertained that Hornblower's appointment may result in reversing it. A reversal of the decision would be worth many millions of dollars to the railroad corporations of the country.

THE long list of World's Fair exhibitors who are securing space for the cream of their exhibits at the Midwinter Fair shows that the latter is to be exactly what the people want—a condensation of the World's Fair, with such additional attractions as can be added from this state. The only complaint heard in regard to the World's Fair is that its immensity makes it impossible for the visitor to see the half of it within the time which the rushing American is inclined to allow himself for such purpose. The Midwinter Fair will be a big thing, but not so big as to mystify and discourage those who are anxious to see all of it.

A FEW months ago Democratic newspapers were submitting the figures to substantiate the enthusiastic declaration that their party would have a clear majority in both houses and the opportunity to earn the undying gratitude of the people by the enactment of needed legislation. They said that while they had succeeded in placing the incomparable patriot, Grover Cleveland, in the Presidential chair on a previous occasion, that a wicked Republican majority in the senate had defeated all his cherished plans for saving the country, but now that they would have the reins of government in their own hands, trusts, monopolies and other foes of the plain people should discreetly hunt their holes forthwith. If the situation were not so serious the comments of these papers would now be amusing enough to provoke the hilarity of nations. The Democratic New York Sun, for instance, now declares that the Republican party is equally responsible with the Democratic party for the pending financial legislation, whatever the outcome may be, while the Mugwump Times of the same city hotly asserts that the action of congress up to date demonstrates that the Democracy is not equal to its great leader, and that the party through its representatives will prevent Cleveland from carrying out his pledges, and the party will be left naked to the just contempt of the nation. Here are two opinions from prominent sources, but neither represents the opinion of the great mass of the people. As this is a government of administrations by political parties, the party in power is necessarily responsible for its administration, but the prevailing opinion is not that Cleveland is handicapped by his party, but that the party as represented in congress is capable of giving the country some needed legislation if it were not prevented by Cleveland's bull-headed determination to dictate what congress shall do and how it shall do it. The Democratic party is dead wrong on some questions, but it is infinitely superior to Grover Cleveland.

The merry-go-round is out of luck entirely, it seems. After it was here despoiled by imperial Cesar, the outfit went west to Madera and gave its "400" a whirl. A SENSATIONAL PLAY.

The "Span of Life" Given at the Barton.

"The Span of Life," a melo-dramatic production of English origin, was witnessed at the Barton last night by a very fair sized audience, and from the applause that greeted each sensational climax, emanating chiefly from the gallery, however, the play was highly satisfactory in the sense that it pleased, notwithstanding the many improbable if not impossible situations.

The play kicks the beam of sensationalism and is simply lurid in its intensity, thrill being heaped upon thrill until the curtain finally fell, leaving the audience to remove their wraps and their breath ere venturing out in a state of beatific satiety.

The acrobatic performance was good, and the culminating scene is that in which the heroine, with a child, pursued by the villain in the guise of an Arab slave trader, walks over the bridge formed by the bodies of the acrobats, who drop themselves across a deep chasm, thus reaching safety.

LICENSES DISCUSSED

What the Finance Committee Recommends.

ECONOMY THE ORDER OF THE DAY

Murray's Report—Electric Lights, Engine No. 3 and Other Matters Discussed.

The finance committee of the Board of City Trustees met last night to consider the license ordinance and other matters.

The first matter taken up was the license ordinance, which was considered item by item, and they agreed to make the following recommendations for license:

For each billiard, pool or bagatelle table $5 per quarter.

Merchants' licenses graded according to average monthly sales, at the following rate per quarter:

Sales over $100,000	$100 00
Sales over $75,000 to $100,000	75 00
Sales over $50,000 to $75,000	50 00
Sales over $40,000 to $50,000	40 00
Sales over $30,000 to $40,000	25 00
Sales over $25,000 to $30,000	20 00
Sales over $20,000 to $25,000	15 00
Sales over $15,000 to $20,000	12 50
Sales over $10,000 to $15,000	10 00
Sales over $5000 to $10,000	7 50
Sales over $2500 to $5000	5 00
Sales over $1000 to $2500	3 50
Sales less than $1000	2 50

Laundries within the city and solicitors for laundry work to be done outside of the city recommended at $10 per quarter.

Astrologers, seers, soothsayers, fortune tellers, clairvoyants, spiritual mediums, etc., recommended at $5 per week, $15 per month and $30 per quarter.

Agents for fire, life and accident insurance, for each firm, agent, broker and solicitor or sub-agent $5 per quarter.

Each person, firm or company expressing gold dust, merchandise, etc., from Fresno to points outside of the city $30 per quarter.

The proposed license to be collected of $2 per night for each public dance was discussed, L. L. Cory appearing for the musicians and represented the unprofitableness of the business. The committee decided to recommend that no license be imposed.

The proposition to license warehouses $15 per quarter was discussed by L. Einstein and others. The objection to the ordinance in this respect was that it was a double license on merchants. The matter was referred to the city attorney to draft an ordinance that would exempt storage warehouses for merchandise and impose it on warehouses conducted for profit.

The clause concerning water companies furnishing water for the city or private persons was discussed by Messrs. J. J. Seymour, L. Einstein and the trustees, and on a vote of the committee was fixed at $25 per quarter.

The clause with regard to a license on companies furnishing gas or electricity for light or power was discussed by L. Einstein for the company and committee, who decided to recommend a license of $20 per quarter.

The committee recommends a license of $25 per quarter upon telegraph companies.

The rate on ice companies was fixed at $10 per quarter without discussion.

Those men of dark deeds, the bootblacks, cast a gloom over the committee. Some of the members doubted the advisability of levying a tax on them for fear that it would raise the price of shines. Chairman Church was an ardent admirer of nickel shines, and feared that a license might bull the market.

The question was asked by the street superintendent why the stands were permitted to remain in the alleys, and he explained that he found them there when he came into office and had not been ordered to do away with them.

He was directed to wield the besom of destruction, and the stands will have to move out, as the alleys belong to the city.

The committee recommended that all bootblack stands not run inside a barber shop be required to pay a license of $2.50 a quarter.

The proposed license of $10 for barber shops was taken up and F. H. Short appeared for the tonsorial artists and explained that the craft had to rake and scrape for a living now, and a license would compel some of them to close up shop and leave town.

The financial crisis had especially affected the business, as men either shaved themselves or did not shave so often, and when they did shave their faces were so long that there was no profit.

After some further discussion by the trustees they fixed the license at 50 cents a quarter for each chair, not to exceed $2.50 for any one shop.

They recommend a license of $50 per year, or any portion thereof, for each cannery or packing company doing business in the city.

They recommended a license of $10 per quarter upon every establishment bottling beer or manufacturing soda, sarsaparilla pop, ginger ale, apolinaris, Shasta water, etc.

They recommended a license of $10 per quarter in addition to any other license that may be imposed on every person handling or dealing in sewing machines.

The license recommended on photographers was classified as follows:

First—Photographers and makers of sun pictures having a regular place of business, $5 per quarter.

Second—Transient, $12 per quarter.

Third—Peddlers of tickets, solicitors for orders for frames and for retouching and crayon, etc., $20 per quarter.

Fourth—Itinerant photographers $25 per quarter.

They recommended that licenses on livery stables be graded according to their receipts, as follows per quarter: $2500 or over, $10; from $2000 to $2500, $7.50, less than $2000, $5.

The proposed license of tamale peddlers at $2.50 per quarter brought Spinney to his feet in their defense. He argued that it was wrong to burden the poor who were having a hard time of it at best, and with such pathos that the house became very serious over the picture, but at an unfortunate moment he began summing up the expenses they were under and innocently remarked, "Then, you see, they have to buy their chickens"—and Spinney's appeal was wrecked right there by the general laughter over the yell in the street outside of "tamales!"

However the tamale man was not taxed, doubtless out of regard to the length of ear and softness of fur on those "chickens."

The city attorney then stated that he had been requested by F. G. Berry to ask the board to place a license of $10 per quarter upon every person selling milk within the city limits, and that there were a number of persons inside the city who kept a cow and sold part of the milk to their neighbors, and the object was to reach these people and make them contribute to the city treasury.

Mr. Spinney was not in favor of imposing a license on poor people to create a monopoly for a few dairymen, as this proposition would amount to, and, being informed upon inquiry that there was no license upon dairymen, announced that he was willing to accommodate Mr. Berry and other dairymen by putting a license of $5 per quarter upon every wagon peddling milk in the city, and the committee agreed to the recommendation.

Mr. Spinney moved that a license of $30 per quarter be imposed on all brick contractors.

Mr. Cruycroft stated that he was in favor of imposing a license not only on brick contractors but all contractors, and at his suggestion the matter was referred to the city attorney to frame an ordinance to cover the ground.

Having disposed of the matter of licenses the committee took up the expert report of R. R. Murray on the books of the city officers from the foundation of the city.

It appears that the books have been well kept in most instances, and finds that there has been overpaid to the lumber company $4.12 and that City Surveyor Ritter has been overpaid $208.48. This appears to have been done in charging for some gutter work for measurements on both sides of the street, and other overcharges.

The report will be made thereon at the meeting of the board next Monday evening, when the matter will be referred to the city attorney to collect back the amounts overpaid if their recommendation is carried out.

The matter of keeping engine No. 3 in commission was discussed. Mr. Church, while favorable, dwelt upon the personal liability of the trustees in incurring bills for which they had no money in the treasury to pay. The committee reported the matter favorably.

The committee reported that an offer had been made to store the street sprinklers at $5 per month. No action was taken on the matter.

The matter of wages and salaries was passed, owing to the lateness of the hour.

The matter of reducing the expenses for gas and electricity was discussed, and the city attorney and the committee will frame a recommendation to be made to the next meeting of the board.

CALIFORNIA EXPORTS.

INCREASE OF SHIPMENTS BY OUR PRODUCERS.

Shipping Beans to Boston and Goobers to the South.

While it will be some time yet before California attains independence of the East in the matter of agricultural products and manufactured materials, the day is by no means so far off as is generally supposed.

The statistics of the Southern Pacific company show that the increase of shipments this year over those of last has been very great and that many articles and products it was supposed we had to import we export instead. Concerning this encouraging sign the Examiner says:

Up to the present date this season 4644 car loads of California products have been moved east of Ogden, Mojave and El Paso, as against 3216 car loads last year. This great increase is regarded by railroad men as indicating the ratio at which California's articles of exp rt are receiving recognition abroad.

Immense as is the increase of eastbound traffic shown in the foregoing figures, it will be still more augmented before the close of the season. At this time last year the shipping season had almost come to an end, whereas today it is estimated that there are at least 3500 car loads of marketable commodities yet to be transported to our neighbors on the other side of the Rocky mountains, a quantity larger than the total of last year's output.

"The stringency in the money market had much to do with the heavy exports from this state this season," said an Atlantic and Pacific official yesterday. "As producers were not able to obtain their accustomed accommodations at the banks, they could not hold over for another season and were compelled to sell for what they could get, and the goods were hurried to market.

"After all it will be better for the farmers than paying interest and waiting for a rise in prices that might never come. It is bringing much ready money into the state and is introducing California dried fruits and other things of that kind into territory where such articles were never known before. This is a kind of educating that pays, for when a demand for the goods has once been established in these places the demands of the market will inevitably grow. All this will add to the prosperity of the agricultural, viticultural and horticultural industries of the state."

The first two weeks of September were particularly lively. In that time 2854 carloads of produce were dispatched across the state line, as compared with 1740 in the same period of 1892.

Comment has heretofore been made on the fact that Texas now buys California potatoes by the trainload. Another notable thing is that beans are sent by the carload to eastern cities, even penetrating as far as Boston. In the southern portion of the state there will be a surplus of peanuts this autumn, and a few carloads of peanuts will be sandwiched in among the orange trains that will roll out of the citrus belt within the next three months.

AN OYSTER SUPPER

How Hungry Printers and Pious Deacons May Get One.

The Expositor last evening intimated that many a pious and saintly deacon would attend the play "Evans and Sontag" at the Barton tonight, basing its prophecy upon the all-fired cussedness of man, to whom the evening paper attributes the porcine peculiarity of going exactly in the opposite direction if is desired to drive the animal.

Rev. J. H. Collins, though a preacher, still has some faith in humanity, and is willing to run dire risks to justify this faith. He says he will, if any elder or deacon of a church in this city attends the play in question, give an oyster supper to the Expositor force, beginning with its editor down to the printer's devil. In addition to this, he will see to it that a plate at the bivalve banquet is provided for each deacon or elder attending the performance.

Shot Through Their Legs.

From the Madera Tribune.

E. H. Hebeir of North Fork was accidentally shot Thursday while riding on a load of posts. His pistol dropped out of his pocket, when it was discharged, the ball going entirely through his left leg, about two inches above the knee, after which it lodged in the calf of an Indian's leg. Mr. Hebeir's wound is not dangerous, but is very painful, while the Indian is only slightly injured. Dr. Church dressed the wounds.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN DEBTS

Women Who Want to See Vincent Hanged—Evans and His Daughters.

The reorganization of the Republican Central Committee ten days ago seems likely to cause a serious headache to a number of leading Democrats, who have been wondering ever since what it all meant. Its most serious meaning is evidently that the Republicans intend making an aggressive fight and believe in laying their plans early.

* * *

A matter of equal, if not greater interest to the Republicans, is the persistent rumor that has been circulating of late that the county organization of the Democratic party has been captured by the same element that piloted it through last year's campaign. What a zig-zag course the Democratic ship took, by reason of the bad steering of these men and the loss of a large number of the crew, is still fresh in the memory of the voters. If the report mentioned is true, it is clear either that the bosses have learned nothing from their defeat last fall, or that they hope by an audacious coup to regain their lost prestige. It is certain they are mistaken in this hope, for the people are not disposed to fight the old fight over, and will sit down on the ambitious ones early enough to prevent the act from having unpleasant consequences.

* * *

Echoes of the last campaign continue to reverberate round the rendezvous of some of the local Democratic politicians. For instance, it is reported that J. M. McClure, editor of the defunct Review, and secretary of the county central committee, uncorked the phials of his wrath on the heads of a few of the leaders of the party a few days since, and expressed his opinion in no uncertain language. To any one at all familiar with the history of McClure's experience in Fresno, it seems that there is justification for his plaint. He was conducting a weekly paper and a fairly remunerative business at Madera, when the glittering allurements of county printing, etc., were offered as an inducement to move to Fresno and conduct a daily in the interest of the county officials and the chiefs of the Jeffersonian Club. McClure came to Fresno, was editorially vigorous in defense of his friends, and worked incessantly for the patronage that never came, except in unprofitable installments. He expended several thousand dollars, and his paper finally suspended. His experience as secretary of the central committee was also disastrous, as that organization is indebted to him for salary money expended, and job printing something like $500 or $700.

* * *

The central committee, by the way, owes a multitude of bills which aggregate about $2000. A meeting of the committee was held a few months since for the purpose of devising means of liquidating its indebtedness. The scheme was to assess each committeeman and circulate subscription papers among Democrats throughout the county. The loud complaints of many creditors of the committee, however, is evidence that the head of the party is still insolvent. Some talk of reorganization of the committee is heard, but that indebtness is an awful impediment.

* * *

The art critic of the Expositor indulges in soulful praise at the expense of William Fahey, whom it accuses of having delivered himself of a unique design for a fountain to be placed in the city park. The particular feature that is to paralyze the art lover is described as follows: "In the center, on a raised piece of rock work, stands a boy, one foot bare, the other covered with a boot, while in his right hand he holds aloft a badly worn boot, through the seams of which the water sprays out, forming the fountain proper." The aforesaid critic doesn't seem to think the McMonnies fountain at the World's Fair would be in it with the Fahey fountain. It appears to many people, however, that there is no more reason for putting the figure of a bootblack on that rock than there is for putting a tamale peddler on it. One is as utter a stranger to water as the other. Besides, there are few who have reached the level of refinement and roughness of stomach that would enable them to to drink from a bootblack's shoe without a squeamish feeling at the stomach. Why not let the postmaster submit a design? We might then get something that we could appreciate.

* * *

There seems to be some difference of opinion as to the interior mural decorations of the court house additions. The painter gentleman who is doing the work thinks the colors are eminently fin de siecle. Fin de siecle they may be, but the majority of people who have seen the tints on walls and ceilings consider them chromatic nightmares. The colors, it is presumable, are what is termed "neutral," which means that you may guess at them a month without striking their right description. The county clerk's office, for instance, has walls of a greenish hue, such as a protracted jag will lay on a tongue. The walls in the corridors and several offices are of a cafe au lait tint, with the lait getting the better of the cafe. The other tints are indescribable.

* * *

Some nights ago the copyists in the county recorder's office were rather startled by dismal noises proceeding from the vault. An investigation resulted in naught, and the copyists began to feel uncomfortable and to think of spooks and other weird beings. Being compelled on account of pressure of business to stay late on the following night, they heard the same noises. This time it was a distinct caterwauling and Deputy Recorder Peeler, with the joyous air of a discoverer, cried, "It was the cat!" Looking up above the vault he saw a cat at one of the ventilators. He got a rock, broke the ventilator, and pussy, as lean as a several days' fast could make her, was freed. The cat had probably gotten between the floor of the corridor and the ceiling of the recorder's office while the workingmen were laying the tiles in the former. While the cat was busy looking for mice the workingmen unconsciously imprisoned her.

It will surprise as well as disgust REPUBLICAN readers to learn that many of the applicants for tickets of admission to the execution of Dr. F. O. Vincent were from women. Of regular applications Under Sheriff Berry received only five, but there were a number of other women who asked for the precious admission card in a roundabout way. It is a matter of satisfaction that all of these morbid females were refused. As for Vincent, there is no change in his demeanor. He still hopes, but repents that if it comes to the worst he will die like a man. He is permitted to order what he wants for his meals by the sheriff and is allowed other little comforts for the brief span of life left him. Yesterday he was neatly arrayed in a black suit and wore a white shirt, collar and necktie, having discarded his negligee shirt. He received a visit from his brother-in-law, Robert Barnett of San Francisco, in the morning, and his mother may be down in a day or two. The gallows is now in thorough shape, the trap being sprung by a trigger arrangement. The man whose duty it will be to pull the rope will be hid from the gaze of the people, and it is not likely his name will be made public by the authorities.

* * *

The jailer's office was brightened by three merry girls yesterday. They were Eva Evans, the star of the Evans & Sontag dramatic combination, and her two sisters, Inez and Winnie. Inez and Winnie had been brought up from Visalia by their mother to see their father and attend the play. They are about 13 and 11 years old respectively and as bright and pleasant girls as could be found anywhere. They are very prepossessing, and Inez is particularly attractive when she smiles, which she does quite often. Chris Evans looked on proudly as they romped around, after which they would hang about him affectionately for a while and then play again. Eva was as lively as her younger sisters, and so glad was she to see them she held first one then the other on her lap, though with all her 17 years she is not much larger than they. Mrs. Evans is said to look happier than she has for a long time.

LOCAL REFORM SCHOOL.

A Good Suggestion Made by Professor Heaton.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—In my report to the Board of Education last June I recommended the enforcement of the compulsory education law and the establishment of a local reform school. No action has been taken in the matter by the school trustees. The law provides for a truancy officer, who would act as a special policeman in hunting up those who ought to be in school.

Many children of school age are running the streets, learning vice and being schooled in crime. Others are so irregular in attendance that the school does them no good, while their occasional presence tends to corrupt those of good habits. A number of pupils are fairly well behaved and studious when in school, but parents do not or cannot compel attendance. The boys drift from bad to worse till they reach the police court.

Keep these boys in school and many of them will become studious and develop a manly disposition. Badboys kept in school often turn out well. All they need is a fair chance.

When a pupil becomes so bad as to be a menace to the well-being of a school, there is now nothing to do but turn him to the streets till he degenerates sufficiently to be sent to the Whittier. With a local reform school such a boy would be put there till he be improved enough to be restored to his regular grade; if improvement did not follow, then to Whittier.

Such school with one teacher could be easily filled without going outside the city limits. It would pay for itself by the expense it would save the city.

P. L. HEATON.

JAMES' CONFESSION.

THE DEFENSE THINK IT AN IMPROPER STORY.

How James Was Hypnotized by the Dire Threat of Mark Walser.

The trial of W. S. James before Judge Harris yesterday resolved itself into a long technical siege, in which the main thing brought out was "I object."

Messrs. Snow and Walser of the district attorney's office put Miss Burdon on the stand to testify from her shorthand notes the confession James made when he endeavored to fix the crime of Good's murder on Sydney Jones.

Before she read a word Messrs. Carter and Williams began to object, and the remainder of the day was spent in a legal fight by the defense to prevent his statement being used against him.

At the examination of Jones before Justice Austin, James went upon the stand to testify against Jones. At that time his attorney, W. R. Jacobs, forbid James saying a word, and tried to have a private conversation with him before he said anything.

James declined this, and Jacobs publicly abandoned his defense then and there. James then retailed under oath, with much particularity, how Jones killed Good, and knocked Ned Sparhawk's dinner out of place in showing how he stabbed him.

Notwithstanding that he swore that he told this story of his own free will and accord without reward, promise or fear, the defense now set up that his statements, made for the purpose of hanging Jones, but now threating his own neck, were not voluntary.

The ground for this lies in the fact that some months before Mark Walser became disgusted at some of James' summer style of confessions, and in his wrath shook his paralyzing finger at him and declared he would hang him.

The defense claim that James never fully recovered from that threat notwithstanding his hardy and tough constitution, and that the germs of that hypnotic shock which Walser then gave him so warped the component material of his mind that he went on the stand and solemnly swore that he ought to be hung.

At the close of court Marion Childers was on the stand, testifying to statements made by James to him and whether they were voluntary or not. He was put under the rule and the case was adjourned to this morning.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

SESSION BEGINS IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH TODAY.

A Large Number of Teachers Present, and an Interesting Program Prepared.

The annual session of the County Teachers' Institute will begin this morning at the Baptist church.

The opening session will be general in character, and will continue so through the morning hour, when the work will be classified into departments.

The first thing in the forenoon will be calling roll and organizing into sections, together with the appointment of committees and election of special officers, followed by the county superintendent's address.

Professor C. H. Keyes of Pasadena will answer the conundrum of "What are we here for?" after which Miss Margaret E. Schallenberger of Palo Alto and Hon. John Dickinson will deliver addresses.

In the afternoon the institute will meet in two sections, the grammar section and the primary section. President C. H. Keyes will lead instruction in mathematics and Miss Schallenberger in language.

Among the interesting features at the institute will be the lectures to be given Wednesday and Thursday evenings. They will be very instructive and it is hoped there will be a large attendance of parents as well as of teachers.

On Wednesday evening Professor C. H. Keyes of the Throop Polytechnical institute, Pasadena, will lecture on "The New Education," the subject having particular reference to manual training, on which the professor is an acknowledged authority.

John Dickinson, the well known scientist, will speak Thursday evening. His subject will probably be "A Winter In the West Indies," one of his most entertaining as well as instructive lectures.

A large number of the 178 teachers of the county are already here prepared to take part in this interesting and instructive work, and the institute promises to be a very beneficial and satisfactory one.

MIDWINTER FAIR.

Contributions Received for Fresno County's Exhibit.

The Midwinter Fair commission of this county is out of glass jars, and cannot, therefore, handle any more contributions of green products at present.

What the commissioners desire particularly at present is raisins—plenty of them, and good ones. Contributions of dried fruits, cereals and nuts are also much desired.

Following are the contributions received by the commission that have not yet received notice:

Hugh Knepper of Letcher, a box of fine apples.

James Bewley, Selma, Indian corn.

Mrs. Lyon, Fresno colony, box of pound pears.

O. A. Vorce, peanuts on the vine.

H. Lawrence, Fowler, stalk of bamboo 18 feet long, 5 months' growth; also a growth from a French prune tree, 13 feet 4 inches long.

J. M. Matthews, Oleander, box of raisins.

Mincola vineyard, J. D. Jones, manager, sweat box of cluster raisins.

G. M. Virgin, hill of sweet potatoes.

H. N. Cutler of Selma, who has shown much interest in the exhibit, contributed a large quantity of chestnuts in the burr and a box of them out of the burr.

James Gibson gave a stuffed grey squirrel, mounted on the limb of a pine tree.

James Waterman contributed a quantity of yellow corn in the ear, grown near the San Joaquin river, and a specimen of the sediment soil in which it grew.

William Rudy, Washington colony, a box of raisins.

There is a probability that the entertainment for the benefit of the Midwinter Fair, which was referred to in THE REPUBLICAN recently, will soon be given. It consists of a lecture illustrated by stereopticon views, comparing the east and California.

It is an interesting entertainment and has met with considerable success in other cities. The proceeds, after paying the expenses of the entertainment, will be used for the benefit of the county's exhibit.

CAUSE OF TORNADOES.

Result of the Meeting of Dead Winds From North and South.

From the gulf of Mexico to the north pole and from the lakes to the Rocky mountains is a vast extent of country crossed by no mountain chains to intercept or retard the velocity of air currents.

The extent of this country is equaled by none on earth. Cold air being heavier to the square inch than warm air, the cold air, when coming in contact with a warm current from the south, always predominates, forcing the warm air into the upper currents.

The cause of cyclones is the meeting of a head wind from the north with a head wind from the south. They meet like two vast armies of men.

The pressure at the point of meeting is so great that the air, by compression, becomes heavier in the square inch than wood or the human body, hence either one will float in the same manner that wood will float in water—it floats because it is lighter to the square inch than water.

Place water in an ordinary wash bowl and remove the plug, and it will be observed that in passing out the water forms a circular reaction. Air being a liquid does the same in passing either upward or downward, hence the funnel shaped spout of the cyclone center.

When two immense bodies of air coming from opposite directions meet, the only egress is upward and sideways, and in passing upward it forms the funnel the same as water passing out of a wash bowl downward.

The theory that a cyclone forms a vacuum is absurd. Withdraw air from a glass jar with an air pump and a feather within the vacuum formed will drop with the same velocity as lead, or, on the other hand, you can compress air until it is heavier to the square inch than wood, in which case wood will float in the air.

The lifting power of a cyclone is caused first by the compression or density of the air, and second by its velocity. Combining the power of density with that of velocity, which occurs at the center or funnel, no power can resist it. The feeling of suffocation or difficulty in breathing when near the track of a cyclone is caused from the compression of air.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Dueling in Russia.

A St. Petersburg correspondent says: Dueling in Russia has become so common that the government has been compelled to decree a severe code of punishment. Killing an antagonist will cost six years in prison; severe wounding, three years; duel without injury, six months; provoking a duel, six weeks to three months.

A metallic pavement is to be tried in Paris. The prefect of the Seine, with the approval of the municipal authorities, has sanctioned the laying down of an experimental length.

The new carpet for the house of representatives will be of a dark green design, with a crimson figure, conventional in its character, relieved by a cream colored star.

The new programme of public instruction adopted in France devotes more time to the study of English and less to the study of German.

Making Up the Face.

Actors have always painted the face to render it more expressive, or rather to give it some sort of expression when seen at a distance which it would otherwise lack if, as in ancient Greece, masks were not employed for that purpose. China furnishes probably the best example of the antiquity of the custom. The use of the mask in Greek theaters, which were vast and had not the modern resource of achromatic glasses, was excusable or even necessary. The Roman theaters were smaller, and the desired facial expression was obtained by the application of color. In Shakespeare's time, when female parts were played by men, painting of the face was absolutely essential to the required illusion. Similar reasoning is used on the modern stage when painting the face is considered necessary for the simulation of youth or age, or to make the features more expressive at a distance.

The practice is in many cases excusable or even indispensable, for if the actor or actress has not a good stage face, but one of those round, inexpressive countenances in which eyes, nose and mouth are at the distance of 20 feet inextinguishably blended, it is certainly permissible to obtain some measure of facial expression by artificial means. It is another question whether the contemporary woman should ever apply any substance to her face to make her appear younger, more beautiful or in any sense what she is not.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Cathedral Dungeon.

Chichester cathedral has a secret dungeon, having a heavy and massive door. It is also provided with a secret entrance, admission to which is obtained by a sliding panel in a room at one time used as a library. The cathedral, founded in 1070, was renovated after a fire in 1114, and restored after another fire in 1187. It consists of a nave of eight bays and four aisles, a transept with chambers instead of aisles, a central steeple and a southwest tower.

Carlisle cathedral, during the period of the Jacobite rebellion, was used as a huge dungeon, and many rebels were imprisoned there in 1745. The chief engineer in the royal forces even demanded of the bells as his perquisites, which claim the dean and chapter successfully resisted. Having been used for this purpose, the cathedral was left in such an intolerable state of filth that not till after six weeks' cleansing and burning of much sulphur and tar could it be used for service.—London Tit-Bits.

"She Looketh Well

But her ways are not always chi ways. In fact she has discarded many unsatisfactory old ways. For instance, to-day she is using

THE BOY IN THE MOW.

There glides through the barn's mammoth door
A sweet scented hilltop of hay;
An athlete, with strength bubbling o'er,
Now rises it in forkfuls away.
Another is stowing it back,
With white pearls of toil on his brow.
And, treading the hay in his track,
Looms faintly the boy in the mow.

Through crevices often can he
View, past the old barn wall of brown,
A river that leads to the sea,
A railway that drives to the town.
"Oh, when shall my fortune make bay
In you fields of splendor, and how?
'Twill wait for full many a day;
I'm only a boy in a mow."

A cloud like a fleet from the sky
Is splendidly steered and unrolled;
The sun reaches down from on high
To fringe it with silver and gold.
"Oh, when will heaven's mercy my name
As bright as those colors allow?
But earth has no glory or fame
To waste on a boy in the mow."

A cloud in the west, like a pall,
Creeps upward and looms in the light
It carries a gloom over all,
It looks like a part of the night.
With clamor the thunderbolts swarm,
And tree a bend in agony now:
"'Tis thus, too, that poverty's storm
Would conquer the boy in the mow!"

The clouds have flown into a dream,
The birds are discoursing in glee,
The smile of the sun is aglean,
On river and hilltop and tree.
Look up to the heavens, little lad,
And then to your earth duties bow,
And some day both worlds may be glad
To honor the boy from the mow!
